

Miss Mikaela's Preschool News

A Note from the Teachers

Brrr it is cold outside! As we push through the winter months, preschoolers have fewer opportunities to play outside due to the extreme temperatures. This also means fewer opportunities to practice putting on and taking off winter gear. Whenever possible this month, try to help in teaching your child to be self-reliant when it comes to putting on coats, hats, and gloves. In preschool, we are trying to get everyone to be able to put on their coats+zip, and put on hats and gloves without adult help. If your child is struggling in one of these areas, please allow them the opportunity to try and dress by themselves to help them be independent! It may seem silly but a little practice each week ends up making a big difference and allows us to spend more time playing outside and having fun, and less time inside learning to zip. Thank you for all your help and support! ☺
